SING IN THEIR SORROW; WEEP FOR NATION'S DEAD

Popular Outburst Drowns Clash of Saber and Clatter

MULTITUDE SHOWS DEEP EMOTION

Great Crowds Sadly File in Procession Before the Coffin for a Last View of the Dead President—

Grief in the Capital City Today.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Amidst a silence unbroken save by the mournful music and measured tread of many feet McKinley's body went on its final journey from the White House to the Capitol, with all the solemn pomp and pageantry that a great nation could provide. All that was mortal of the great statesman was given a funeral of state.

From daylight groups began to gather around the capitol seeking a point of vantage from which to view the procession and occupy positions that would put them first in line when the time should come for them to pass beside the catafalque.

It Was a Quiet Crowd

It was a quiet crowd that lined the thoroughfare. There was no shouting, little pushing for place and every member of it seemed fully to appreciate the deep solemnity of the occasion.

It was after nine o'clock when the head of the procession made its appearance. As the funeral car went by the vast multitude uncovered in token of respect for the distinguished dead, and many sobs were heard and many eyes wet with tears.

The bright uniforms of the army and navy and the heavy roll of artillery only accentuated the somber gloom near the hearse.

Slowly the procession swept along to the beat of muffled drums and with arms reversed until it reached the capitol. There under the great white dome the coffin was placed on the catafalque and the services began. At their conclusion thousands began to view the remains.

Anguish of Mrs. McKinley.

All night long the corpse rested in the ast room of the executive mansion watched by a guard of eight. During the night Mrs. McKinley begged to be allowed again to look upon her dead husband's face. She was so nervous that this was granted, believing it would calm her. The lid of the casket was removed and with a moan of anguish the bereaved woman leaned over her dead and caressed his silent face. She remained there weeping several minutes and gentle force was necessary to remove her from the remains.

The Religious Service

The religious service upon the arrival of the remains at the capitol this morning was as follows:

Hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light."

Prayer, the Rev. Henry R. Naylor, D. D., Presiding Elder Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington district.

Hymn, "Some Time We'll Understand."

Address, Bishop Edward G. Andrews, D. D., Methodist Episcopal Church.

Hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

Benediction, the Rev. W. H. Chapman, D. D., acting pastor Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church.

The music was furnished by the choir of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church.

Woman Starts Singing

As the procession reached the capitol stepped a woman with a clear, flute-like voice began singing, "Near-

MONUMENT TO M'KINLEY PLANNED; TO COST AT LEAST $1,000,000

Project Launched at an Informal Meeting at Chicago—Commemorative Structure To Be Built at the Capital of the Nation.

Chicago, September 17.—A movement has been launched for the erection of a magnificent arch at Washington as a memorial to the late President William McKinley. The initiatory step in this project was taken at an informal meeting of fully 100 prominent Chicagoans yesterday in the rooms of the Union League club.

It is proposed that the monument cost not less than $1,000,000. A resolution, which is the germ of the plan, was introduced at the gathering yesterday by Alexander H. Revell.

It is intended that the movement shall be made popular. Small contributions are to form the basis of the great sum that will be expended in erecting the arch at the national capital. The idea of the promoters of the project is that every man, woman and child in the United States shall help to pay for the monument to be erected to the martyred president.

The total sum to be raised will not be less than $1,000,000. Mr. Revell thinks that this sum will be forthcoming without much trouble. He says that 90 per cent. of the people, ten will break here down completely and result in serious illness and probably in death.

Buffalo, September 17.—The Pennsylvania railroad officials discovered Sunday night an attempt was being made to wreck the funeral train near Ishura, N. Y. The rails were tampered with. Obstructions were placed on the track. It is believed to be the work of anarchists.

Order of the Procession.

The following gives the order of procession which accompanied the body of President McKinley from the White House to the Capitol: Funeral escort, under command of Major General Brook; battery of light artillery, battalion of District of Columbia National Guard, two troops of cavalry, battalion of foot artillery, battalion of marines, civil procession, under command of Chief Marshal General H. V. Boynton; clergymen in attendance, physicians who attended the late President; hearse, flanked on either side by bearers and guard of honor; members of the Grand Army of the Republic, members of the Loyal Legion; the officers of the army, navy, and marine corps in the city and not on duty, with the troops forming the escort, in full uniform, on either side of the hearse—the army on the right and the navy and marine corps on the left—composed the guard of honor; the President, the diplomatic corps, the cabinet officers, the Chief Justice and associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Senators of the United States, members of the United States House of Representatives, Governors of States and Territories and Commissioners of the District of Columbia; the Judges of the Department of Claims, the Judiciary of the District of Columbia, and Judges of the United States Court; the assistant Secretaries of State, Treasury, and Interior Departments, the Assistant Postmasters General, the Solicitor General, and the Assistant Attorneys General; organized societies and citizens.

The words were the same. President McKinley was heard to speak in a whisper so faint they could scarcely be distinguished while he lay dying in Buffalo. His mind was wandering back to the simple days of his youth and the country church in which he gained the foundation for the strong religious principles that clung to him throughout his life. The woman sang on sweetly and beautifully:

That ralesth me,
Still all my song shall be,
Nearer, my God, to thee,
Nearer to thee.

The people were thrilled. Grim old soldiers standing rigidly at attention, their eyes fixed on space ahead, their heads bared and their hands raised in salute, dashed tears from their eyes. A major general, a grizzled veteran of the civil war and a valiant soldier of the late war with Spain, heard the words of the hymn as they came from the singer's throat and turned his head so the crowds nearest him would not see him weep.

"I hope she will stop singing," he said. "I do not want to break down."

Nearer, my God, to thee,

If the man does not stop the cough the cough stops the man; stops his appetite, his sleep, his pleasure and his work. So called "cough remedies" sometimes relieve but they don't go deep enough to cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs and diseases of the respiratory organs perfectly and permanently. It stops the cough. It heals the lungs, stops the hemorrhage, if the lungs are bleeding, and by purifying the blood and increasing the action of the blood-making glands enriches every organ with the good blood which alone will make a good body.

"My husband had been coughing for years and people franked to me that he would go to the grave in a few months," writes Mrs. John Shireman of No. 456 2d Place, Chicago, Ill. "He had such terrible coughing spells, we not only grew much alarmed, but looked for the bursting of a blood vessel or a hemorrhage at almost any time. After three days' coughing he took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husband's recovery was remarkable. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around, and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness. They produce permanent well-being and do not re-act on the system. One is a gentle laxative, two a cathartic dose.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

BIG AUDIENCE FOR CHURCH NEWS AND NOTES.

The Backman Comedy company opened their week's engagement at the Myers Grand last evening, being greeted by an enormous audience which filled every seat in the theatre, sat on the balcony stairs and stood at the rear of the orchestra circle. The play presented was "Wife for Wife," a stirring melodrama of Southern life and judging by the heartiness of the applause which rewarded the strong scenes, the company found favor with the audience. Emma Forsythe capably carried the role of the heroine and Maude Sutton played the soubrette part prettily, her bright saucy manner catching the fancy of the audience at once. Joseph W. Walsh did acceptable work as the hero and continued applause followed his mad scene. Bertram Miller carried the difficult part of the polished slave well and Arthur D. Lynda was equally good as the polished villain. Bud Meley made plenty of fun in the comedy role and also did some clever acrobatic work in an original sketch in which he shared the honors with Kathryn Van Esse, who has a rich and powerful singing voice which she uses well.

The balance of the cast is creditable and some clever vaudeville people help to give a most acceptable performance by introducing pleasing specialties between the acts. Miss Sutton and the Thompson sisters are excellent dancers and Frederick Seward entertains the audience in a very original manner with funny stories, well told, character songs and parades.

His announcement of the attractions for the week was unique in its way and in stating that there would be no performance on Thursday evening out of respect for the national sorrow. Mr. Seward paid glowing tribute to the life of the departed president and stated that actors and actresses had scarcely had the heart to go on with their work during the past week.

The picture machine did not work well last evening, something being the matter with the electrical connections. The trouble will be remedied today. The company makes a specialty of beautiful illustrated songs, a fact that was very evident last night in spite of the dimness of the pictures. Tonight the company will present "Maine and Georgia," a pretty love story of the civil war times.

TELEGRAPHIC SERVICE

The Gazette received the full daily telegraphic report of the Scripps-McClellan League.

THE MAN WHO WON'T SEE.

The Oshkosh Northwestern is addressing a series of "open letters" to Senator John M. Whitehead, condemning his action in signing the address of the Wisconsin Republican League. We are unable to see the pertinency of these letters for they assume things which do not exist, that is, they set up men of straw and then proceed to knock the stuffing out of them. The two letters already published assert that the object of the league is first to help Senator Spooner, second to destroy Governor LaFollette, and third to bolt LaFollette in case he should be renominated. A careful re-reading of the address reveals no grounds for either of these assumptions. It protests against the attempt of the executive branch to interfere with the action of the legislative branch, but nowhere does it say that the signers of the address would refuse to support the nominees of any state convention. It laid special stress upon the proposition that "the party must not permit itself to be divided and possibly destroyed by factional disputes," and says, "for these reasons we must present to you the necessity of a wholesome organization which shall truly represent the whole party and safeguard its principles. We have not in contemplation an organization for a single campaign, but one that should be permanent and as comprehensive as the party it represents." In view of these and the other like declarations of the address, it seems absolutely absurd to charge, as the Northwestern does, that the signers have organized a bolt, that they have given notice that they will not abide by the result of a convention which is not to their liking, and that the formation of the league is a "revolt." The Northwestern editor has got hold of some other document than the league address; he is barking up the wrong tree.—White water Register.

MRS. MCKINLEY.

Expressions of sympathy for the invalid wife of the departed president, are world-wide, and very significant. They convey in words the finest sentiment of humanity touched with sorrow, and they speak for the nation the highest regard and appreciation.

In the hurry and rush of busy life the keen edge of this nation's sorrow will give place to work that demands attention and new duties and responsibilities, will be absorbing. Not so, however will Mrs. McKinley be able to put aside the great loss that has come into her life, changing so ruthlessly all her hopes and plans and transferring the happy home filled with joy and sunshine by the presence of the man who was the nation's chieftain, but who was her staff and support.

The white house was to her more than the home of the president. It was the sacred precinct where the idols of a woman's love were cherished, and when these idols were shattered, and the altar fires reduced to ashes, never to be rekindled, it means vastly more to her than it can possibly mean to the closest friend of the stricken nation.

Another home will soon be established at the white house and around it will center the thought and solicitude of the loyal people. This is proper and in every way most commendable. Mrs. McKinley will doubtless return to her old home at Canton, take up the burdens and experiences of a new and desolate life near the grave of a husband that the nation honored, but that she loved with all the intensity of a woman's heart. In her loneliness she will be comforted by the thought that generous sympathy will be accorded because she bears the name and shared the life of the man for whom the nation mourns so sincerely today.

INCONSISTENT.

The Milwaukee Free Press contradicts itself in an attempt to defend the governor, for not calling the lieutenant governor to the executive chair, during his enforced absence by illness. The paper admits that he has been a very sick man and yet claims that he has been able to attend to his duties and then whines about lack of sympathy.

There isn't a man in the state who does not sympathize with Governor LaFollette in his sickness. The people of the state do not believe generally that a sick man should be called upon for service, they are perfectly willing that the governor as the servant of the people should be given ample time to rest and recover. They have confidence in the ability of Lieutenant Governor Stone who was elected for just such contingencies, and they do not believe that his duties should be delegated to a private secretary.

The trouble with the Milwaukee organ and that class of papers that it represents is, that they appropriate the country with the return stub torn off.

Kenosha Gazette: Loving, genial, kindhearted and wholesoled, he had enshrined himself in the hearts of the people, and on them the loss falls with all the force of a personal blow.

Governor LaFollette has been confined to his home for three months and his physician claims that another month will be necessary to put him on his feet. If there is any reason why the Lieutenant governor should not be called upon to help him out, the public is not advised. If absolute rest is helpful to recovery the governor is entitled to it, and the people are willing that he should have it.

GROSSENE AND DIRECT NOMINATIONS.

Every man in the United States whether republican or democrat, who is a politician of the Sentinel-Grosvenor stamp, will oppose such a system (direct nomination by the people.) Why shouldn't they oppose it? Grosvenor made a speech in the last session of congress, in defense of the fraud, oleomargarine. He was opposed to the Grout bill, and there were reasons for it, too. He is a corporation, oleomargarine, packed caucus defender, on general principles.—Jefferson County Union.

The above sentiment expresses Ex Gov. Hoard's sentiment on Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio, and all because the Ohio man possessed the temerity to state a few plain facts concerning the practical working of the much discussed primary law.

Lacrosse, Republican and Leader: Indeed it has been said that the strongest side of the man whose mortal self is stilled at Millburn House was his love of domesticity. He lived and died the companion of a noble woman, and the dearest spot on all earth to him was home, sweet home.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Emma Goldman says: "Marriage is a private matter. I do not see why ministers and judges should interfere with it." Evidently Emma and Professor Herron are of the same mind regarding this particular question.

Racine News: Theodore Roosevelt in sadness passes from second place to that made vacant in the early morning hours. He will take up the work without a break. The interests of the people and the government will be safe and there is no reason to fear any permanent shock of business or political relations.

Janesville Chickens.

Janesville chickens are getting to bear an extended reputation among chicken fighters of the state. The Superior, Wis., sports sent down here to the local gentlemen for a lot of birds to fight a man at Duluth.

The Superior men offered to name the man and offered the Janesville sports $25 a battle. The main is to be for $250. The Janesville boys want $30 per pair and $20 on each battle, the Janesville boys to furnish the birds. A bunch of birds were brought in yesterday from the farm and their combs and gills trimmed. The Janesville birds came from the best of stock and are in demand all over the state. A large number of young birds were raised this summer and will be in condition to battle during the coming winter.

Much Interest Here.

Considerable interest is being manifested in both the resident and business portion of the city in the way of elaborate decorating in memory of the late president, William McKinley. Several of these decorations are worthy of special mention.

Thursday is funeral day, and many will decorate tomorrow and Thursday. Extra large shipments of black bunting at five cents per yard and good black goods at 6 and 7 cents per yard have been received in the city by dry goods houses from Chicago. Red, white and blue bunting as well as silk and large and small cotton flags are to be had in abundance and at small cost. Many private dwellings were decorated this afternoon in all sections of the city.

Resolutions.

At a special meeting of the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators and Paper Hangers of America Janesville Union, No. 177, held last evening, the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, the beloved president of our country; therefore be it—

Resolved, That we extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved wife and family, and be it also further

Resolved, That we drape our charter for the next thirty days.

Emma Goldman expresses sorrow that she is behind the barn, and may have occasion for more genuine sorrow when she comes to trial.

PRESS COMMENT.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The impression left upon the minds and morals of the American people by the dying words of William McKinley will never be erased.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The new president has never yet failed to keep his word or blast the demands of those who trusted him, and he will not now.

Milton Telephone: One of the Stephenson newspapers says John M. Whitehead is the leader of the Stalwarts and another says that Stalwartism is a species of anarchism. Taken together the two statements show the kind of republicanism the Stephenson press is burdened with. Blackguarding men of the Whitehead stamp will hardly further Mr. Stephenson's chance to succeed Senator Spooner.

MATILDA M'GINNIS IN A BAD SCRAPE

Under Arrest for Purloining Clothes and Jewelry of Her Roommate

—Miss Agnes E. Dexter

Matilda McGinnis, a good looking young girl about twenty-one years of age, who came here from Chicago to work in the Isabel factory, was arrested last night and arraigned in the municipal court this morning on a complaint sworn out by Miss Agnes E. Dexter, another employee of the factory, who charged her with entering her room at their boarding house and taking a silk lined dress of the value of $60, a black silk wrapper valued at $25, a diamond ring worth $65, a pair of gold cuff buttons worth $20 and an alligator grip worth $10.

The young lady was much affected at her misdeeds and wept the most of the time she was in court. She waived examination and her trial was set for September 23d at ten o'clock. She had no money with which to hire an attorney, and one will be appointed for her by Judge Fifield. In default of $800 bonds she went to jail.

She came from Chicago about a week ago to work in the Isabel factory the same day that Miss Dexter arrived and went to work in the same factory. They secured a room at a boarding house and occupied it together. She did not have much in the way of wearing apparel and Miss Dexter loaned her some things she was in want of.

Yesterday Miss McGinnis was dismissed by the Isabel company, and left the works and went to the boarding house where she appropriated the articles named and left the house. She stopped at another boarding house and secured a room for a short time. Here she put on the dress which was several sizes too large for her, over her other dress, and started out, evidently to go to Chicago. Miss Dexter went home from work about five o'clock, missed her property and immediately notified the police. Chief Hogan hurried to the station to catch the early train but she did not make her appearance. Shortly before six o'clock she walked down Milwaukee street and looked like a young girl decked out to attend a swell ball or a wedding. When she reached the station she was met by some of the boarders at the house she had left and who were watching for her and detained her until Chief Hogan arrived and took her to the county jail.

Flossie McGregor is Better

Dr. Walter B. Metcalf and wife, of Chicago, who have been visiting at the home of Dr. Metcalf's brother, George A. Metcalf, returned home this morning on the 10:10 train. Dr. Metcalf is attending Miss Flossie McGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McGregor, who has been dangerously ill with tuberculosis pneumonia ever since last June. Under Dr. Metcalf's advice, Miss McGregor has been sleeping out of doors, on the plaza at her home, for the past seven weeks, and the treatment, given her also included hypodermic injections. Miss McGregor's life was given up by both Janesville and Chicago physicians, but her many friends rejoice in the fact that she is improving steadily and rapidly and that she will doubtless recover her health entirely.

CAPITAL BOWED IN SORROW

McKinley's Last Slumber in White House.

THE TRAGIC HOME-COMING

Memorable Trip from Buffalo to Washington as vast crowds pay silent reverence—Relatives today are lying in State in the Capitol building.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The mortal remains of William McKinley slept last night in the executive mansion, scene of his triumphs and services as leader and statesman. Mrs. McKinley was in her old room, hallowed by so many tender memories. President Roosevelt passed the night at the modest home of his sister on N street. The national capital bowed its head in grief over this tragic home-coming of the well-beloved head of the state. The federal city harbored last night two Presidents—one enshrined in the hearts and the other living in the hopes of the people.

Coming to the Capital.

After a wonderful journey from Buffalo—a journey of nearly 500 miles between parallel lines of bared heads and weeping eyes—the funeral train drew into the Washington station last night at 8:45 o'clock. A tremendous throng was assembled to greet it. Historic Pennsylvania avenue, was sea of faces, white and black, as far as eye could reach. Not many more people were gathered there those two days of March when William McKinley rode along this same thoroughfare from the White House to the capitol to receive the civic crown. Last night he was crowned with a wreath of love and grief such as has never before been placed upon the brow of an American statesman.

Carried to the White House.

In the press of people who stood while awaiting the funeral train were Secretaries Hay and Gage, officers of the army and navy and high officials of the executive branches. With President Roosevelt at its head the cortège was quickly formed and the casket containing the body of the late President was quickly borne to the executive mansion amid scenes of woe and sorrow unexampled in the history of the national capital. There it was placed upon a bier erected in the famous east room, scene of so much of the ceremonial history of our country, and there it was left for the night under the guard of sailors and soldiers.

Day a Memorable One.

William McKinley was back in the White House—back in the nerve center of the national government where he had been twice sent by the popular voice and where he had labored so long and so well. This was the end of a memorable day. That journey from Buffalo with the body of President McKinley will never be forgotten by any man or woman who made it. It was a journey from the great lakes to tide-water through walls of weeping people. Bells tolled, choirs sang, bands played dirges, veterans and societies stood with draped banners and bare heads all along the route. The black drapery of mourning was everywhere to be seen.

Mrs. McKinley Bears Up Well.

Mrs. McKinley appeared to stand the terrible strain of the day's journey from Buffalo to Washington extremely well, although once or twice she was undoubtedly on the verge of collapse, and had to be given stimulants to keep her up. When she arrived at the White House she was at once taken to her familiar rooms and was surrounded by the tender and loving care of her immediate family.

Roosevelt's Quiet Dignity.

President Roosevelt made his first appearance in his new official capacity here in Washington with an amount of gentle dignity which created an extremely favorable impression. He was quiet and was not at all overwhelmed, but it is evident to all who saw him—and they not so many—that his sorrow was sincere and extremely deep-rooted.

Official Business.

President Roosevelt found Mrs. Roosevelt and his son, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., awaiting his arrival. He transacted no official business and does not contemplate considering anything during his present stay in Washington beyond what is absolutely necessary. He leaves here tomorrow evening with the funeral party for Canton, but will return immediately after the funeral services there. He does not expect to remain in Washington long and will not occupy the White House at this time. It is necessary to give an unusual length of time for the transfer, because of the suddenness of the terrible accident, and President Roosevelt will go to his home at Oyster Bay. He probably will not remain there long, because there are so many matters of public importance which will require his attention here in Washington.

The Services Today.

The service today engaged the attention of all the people of Washington to an extraordinary degree, because it involved first the public official service and then the lying in state at the Capitol Building. After the funeral nearly 50,000 people passed through the great rotunda of the Capitol and looked upon the face of the dead president as he lay in state.

The casket was placed upon the same base as that used at the funeral of President Lincoln, and it is a remarkable fact that the body of Garfield rested on this same construction, which has been preserved in the vaults under the Capitol ever since. It has never been used for the funeral of any other president, and now for the third time it sustained the casket of the martyred president. It has been brought into use for the funerals of Sumner, Thaddeus Stevens, Vice-President Wilson, General John A. Logan, and Chief Justice Waite, and it seems to have grown some history of its own, which was only accentuated by its use for the last public honors to the memory of William McKinley. The procession today was a striking outpouring of the people of Washington, and both civic and military associations participated, owing to the extreme affection of the people here for President McKinley.

POLICY OF ROOSEVELT.

President Outlines His Ideas on National Topics.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt has outlined in some detail the policy he will follow during his incumbency of office.

This policy as outlined to his friends at a conference held in Buffalo on Sunday, will be:

More liberal and extensive reciprocity in the purchase and sale of commodities, so that the overproduction of this country can be disposed of satisfactorily by fair and equitable arrangements with foreign countries.

Abolition entirely of commercial war with other countries and the adoption of reciprocity treaties.

Abolition of such tariffs on foreign goods as are no longer needed for revenue. If such abolition can be had without harm to our industries and labor.

Direct commercial lines should be established between the eastern coast of the United States and the ports in South America and the Pacific coast ports of Mexico, Central America and South America.

For Merchant Marine.

Encouragement of the merchant marine and the building of ships which will carry the American flag and be owned and controlled by Americans and American capital.

Building and completion as soon as possible of the Isthmian canal, so as to give direct water communication with the coasts of Central America, South America and Mexico.

Construction of a cable, owned by the government, connecting our mainland with our foreign possessions, notably Hawaii and the Philippines.

Use of arbitration in all disputes with foreign nations to avoid armed strife.

Protection of the savings of the people in banks and in other forms of investments by the preservation of the commercial prosperity of the country and the placing in positions of trust of men of only the highest integrity.

CZOLGOSZ IS INDICTED.

Grand Jury Votes a True Bill Against Assailant.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Within two hours after it convened the grand jury voted a true bill against Leon Czolgosz, charging him with the murder of President McKinley. The document was not turned into court, but was submitted with other indictments which will be voted before the close of the hearing.

"This will be one of the shortest grand jury investigations in an important case ever recorded," said District Attorney Penney to the throng of newspaper men gathered in the rotunda of the county and city building at a point just in front of the door of the grand jury room. "There is no other reason for occupying more than five minutes in the work except that we want to have the matter attended to thoroughly, so as to prevent the defendant taking advantage of any possible oversight on our part."

The investigation was conducted by M. J. Penney and his assistants, Attorneys Haller, Tickner, Sickman and Hinkley. Mr. Haller has been constantly in touch with the local detectives and government secret service men, who have worked on the case from the start.

Sylvester, Superintendent of Police, has received a letter from Chief Benjamin Murphy of the Jersey City police giving a description of the man, supposed to be an Anarchist, who said he was going to Buffalo to kill President Roosevelt. The description given of the man is as follows: "A foreigner, dark complexion, about 35 years, quite stout, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches, black mustache mixed with gray hair, black hair and eyes, dressed in dark clothing and black Derby hat." Each detective on duty here was given a copy of this description and was told to be on the lookout for anyone answering to it.

Will Pay $50,000 for Assassin.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 17.—Frank Idings, 22 years of age, a blacksmith, was arraigned before Judge Kennedy at the Central Police Court here upon the charge of suspicion. In a saloon on St. Clair street Idings is alleged to have said: "I belong to a society that will give $50,000 to any man who will kill President Roosevelt." Idings at his hearing did not deny that he had made the statement. He was remanded to jail and will be given another hearing on Wednesday. Meantime the police will make every effort to learn all about the prisoner.

Depew for Rigid Laws.

New York, Sept. 17.—Senator Depew, discussing the problem of what is to be done to suppress the growth of anarchy, is quoted as saying: "We must begin at the fountain-head and stop the reservoirs of European anarchy pouring into our country. Such certification of immigrants must be had as will establish a proper environment and association abroad before they pass our immigrant inspectors. Supplementing this, there should be under proper safeguards the power lodged somewhere to expel known enemies of our laws and country. Legislation should also be adopted that will make attempts upon the life of the President which fall out of the category of mere assaults and make such crimes adequately punished."

PROSPECT AVE. WAR HAS BEEN SETTLED

St. Paul Company Will Proceed to Erect Its Freight House—Common Council Met Last Night.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will be allowed to lay its tracks across Prospect avenue and complete its freight station on North Main street. This conclusion was reached at a regular meeting of the common council held last evening. Mayor Richardson presided all the aldermen were present.

The sidewalk grade on Racine street as fixed by the city engineer was adopted.

The report of the street assessment committee of work done on Court street was approved as was the report of the assistant street commissioner on sidewalks built by him.

The highway committee made a report of the amount due from each piece of property for improvements on Dodge and Pleasant streets and bonds were ordered issued to cover the expense except where the owners elect to pay the assessment at once.

The finance committee reported favorably on a lot of bills and the city clerk was instructed to draw orders on the city treasurer for the different amounts.

The judiciary committee reported that they had secured Marshall P. Richardson to revise the city ordinances.

The fire and water committee reported favorably on a drinking fountain at the corner of McKey boulevard and Eastern avenue. The motion carried and the fountain will be put in.

The highway committee reported that $900 would cover the improvements on Dodge street and that bonds for that amount be issued. They were to be nine bonds of $100 each, bearing interest at six per cent, two payable in 1902, two in 1903, two in 1904, two in 1905 and one in 1906. Bonds to the amount of $600 were ordered issued for the work on Pleasant street. They are the same as the others, two payable each year for the next three years. The mayor was instructed to sell the bonds at private sale at the best possible figure.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare and file a new grade of a portion of South Jackson street.

Alderman Fifield of the highway committee introduced an order granting the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road permission to lay four tracks across Prospect avenue for use at their new freight house. The street to be graded and outside the tracks to be macadamized from Main to Bluff streets. The space between the tracks to be planked and kept in good repair at all times. The railroad is also to construct all necessary drains and ditches.

Before the motion was put Alderman Hutchinson stated to the council that he was opposed to letting the railroad company cross the street and was still opposed to it as long as the highway committee saw fit to vote him down he did not see how he was going to help himself. He did not want over two tracks and wanted the company to fix up the tracks in good shape. The highway committee were governed in the matter by a petition signed by all the merchants on the east side of the river, asking that the railroad be granted the right to cross the street.

The grade on Prospect avenue as amended was adopted.

Samuel Grundy was given permission to move a building from lot 7 to lot 8 in Stone's addition. John Casey and Michael Furey were given permission to use a portion of West Milwaukee road for storing building material. Warren Skelly was granted permission to use a portion of Milwaukee avenue for storing building material.

Sidewalks were ordered built in front of lots 99 to 126 on McKey boulevard in the Spring Brook addition and in front of lot 16, block 1, Forest park addition on Ruger avenue. Alderman Fifield moved that the city attorney be instructed to dismiss the appeal to the supreme court in the litigation with the St. Paul road.

This proposition brought some of their aldermen to their feet. Ald. Hutchinson wanted to hear from the city attorney.

City attorney Burpee stated that he considered this an extremely bad move on the part of the city. In the first place the city had given a bond to the railroad company to protect them from damage. Under this bond the city could be made to pay damages and costs. Some time ago the city passed an ordinance in regard to the laying of sidetracks. Under Judge Siebecker's decision this ordinance is now a nullity. The case was in good shape and it would cost but very little more to continue the matter and find out where the city stood on these matters. The company only asked to lay five tracks but they could lay any number under the present decision. The question was one that had long bothered the council and the city and should be settled at once. If the railroad should try to lay other tracks he could not prevent them in the face of Judge Siebecker's decision and thought that the city were throwing away their rights.

Mr. W. A. Jackson was called and stated that there was no intention on the part of the railroad company to enforce the bond and a stipulation to that effect would be drawn up so that each side paid its own costs and the case was dropped.

Alderman Valentine asked as an amendment to Alderman Fifield's motion that the matter lay over until the next regular meeting. Alderman Judd agreed with the city attorney that he suit should be carried through as the St. Paul was not the only road in the city and the question should be settled.

City Attorney Burpee claimed that in the future he could get no injunction as long as Judge Siebecker's decision was in the way.

Mayor Richardson thought the case should go to the supreme court and that the council was throwing up its last chance.

A vote was taken that the matter lay over for two weeks. The amendment was lost by a vote of 6 to 4. The original motion was then put and carried by a vote of 7 to 3 and the suit will be dismissed by the city attorney.

The judiciary committee were instructed to confer with Mr. Fredendall in regard to the land the Third Ward polling booth was located on and to purchase it at $300 if they so deemed fit.

An ordinance regulating the sprinkling of the streets was given its first and second readings and referred to the highway committee. It has a penalty of not more than $10 or less than $1 for each offense. On motion of Alderman McLean the council adjourned.

Henry Riger and wife were in the city over Sunday as the guest of his parents, Captain and Mrs. Edward Riger.

Samuel Grundy was given permission to move a building from lot 7 to lot 8 in Stone's addition. John Casey and Michael Furey were given permission to use a portion of West Milwaukee road for storing building material. Warren Skelly was granted permission to use a portion of Milwaukee avenue for storing building material.

Sidewalks were ordered built in front of lots 99 to 126 on McKey boulevard in the Spring Brook addition and in front of lot 16, block 1, Forest park addition on Ruger avenue. Alderman Fifield moved that the city attorney be instructed to dismiss the appeal to the supreme court in the litigation with the St. Paul road.

This proposition brought some of their aldermen to their feet. Ald. Hutchinson wanted to hear from the city attorney.

City attorney Burpee stated that he considered this an extremely bad move on the part of the city. In the first place the city had given a bond to the railroad company to protect them from damage. Under this bond the city could be made to pay damages and costs. Some time ago the city passed an ordinance in regard to the laying of sidetracks. Under Judge Siebecker's decision this ordi-

In speaking of indigestion, Dr. Lewis says: "It is deplorable that so many hundreds of thousands of Americans suffer from indigestion. It means that the blood of the nation is becoming impure; for undigested food poisons the blood. Unless a method is devised for overcoming this malady, our race must deteriorate."

Many persons use soda tablets to neutralize fermenting food; this only makes a chemical receptacle out of the stomach, and injures its sensitive structures. Others feed on pepsin, which is better, but not sufficient, for it digests only albuminous foods.

The preparation best fitted to relieve and absolutely cure indigestion is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It contains every known digestant and digests every kind of food. Its use is a common sense method of treating all stomach troubles, and the results are always certain.

TIDAL WAVE AT JAMAICA BAY.

New York, Sept. 17.—Hundreds of tons of water, forming a waterspout of tremendous force, swept over Jamaica bay last night, wrecking boats in its path and breaking over a Long Island train crossing the trestle between Beach channel and the Raunt. Passengers on the train were terror-stricken as the waterspout struck the cars. Women fainted as the flood poured through the windows and descended on the cars with terrific violence. A tidal wave and sandstorm followed the waterspout, spreading alarm through the summer resorts on Jamaica bay, and at Rockaway beach.

Colorado Mine Explosion Proves Disastrous to Men Underground.

Newcastle, Colo., Sept. 17.—By an explosion at the Gulch mine, owned by the Colorado Iron and Fuel company, six men were killed and thirty injured. There were seventy-five men underground when the first alarm was sounded, and it was supposed they all had perished. For the next four hours rescuing parties worked vigorously until a roster of the dead and injured was obtained with the foregoing results. The Gulch mine had been in operation for fifteen years and this is the first accident reported. There is only one opening to the mine, and it is supposed that the highly combustible properties of the bituminous coal, which caused the

Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder how they ever got along without it. It has robbed childbirth of its terrors for many a young wife. It has preserved her girlish figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external liniment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internally are apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy. A druggist of Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it."

A prominent lady of Lumberton, Ark., writes: "With my first six children I was in labor from 24 to 30 hours. After using Mother's Friend, my seventh was born in 4 hours."
